

Student aides are not to be allowed at the desk or computer, any more than any other student. Assisting would depend on the task.

This student was not viewing school information. She was waiting for paperwork to take to Coach Hardee and Coach Steele. Are student aides allowed in this area? Are they to assist with helping parents and students?

I noticed that there was a student sitting behind the desk with you looking at the computer. At no time should students be allowed to look at district information, even if it is their own information. If they have a question, they should see a guidance counselor or assistant principal.

Only student aides should be allowed in student administration, and they should be on task.

Students waiting to see an AP should be seated in the reception area.
