If you are leaving for lunch and Beth is still there or vice a versa, shut that computer off and have the child answer that particular phone. If are both there, the child does not need to assist by answering the phone. If this is impossible, we won't put aides in student administraton and there will be no issue.

What should we do in this situation; since we are set up differently than the other offices? In student services we do not have a phone that the student aides can use to answer the phones without being behind the desk, and the computer would still be visible.
