SUBJECT: FY21 ADVANCED PLACEMENT RESULTS

This memorandum provides a high-level summary of the FY21 Advanced Placement (AP) examination participation and performance. The AP program provides an opportunity for students to experience college-level course material and examinations while still in high school. Colleges and universities may grant students who are successful on the exam college credit, and/or use the data to place students who have demonstrated adequate college-level subject mastery in appropriate level courses. The AP test performance and participation is an important indicator of college readiness, and an important indicator of equity and opportunity among schools and groups of students.

Table 1 and Figures 1a and 1b summarize the exam participation rates. Participation rates increased slightly to 21% overall in FY21 (+3 percentage points) after registering a slight decline in FY20. This pattern was evidenced across each of the student subgroups (Table 1 and Figure 1a). Historically, participation rates have differed between student groups (Figure 1b). Similar to prior years, Asian students participated at a higher rate than White students (+14 percentage points) while Black and Hispanic students participated at lower rates (-22 and -15 percentage points, respectively).

Table 2 and Figures 2a and 2b summarize exam performance. Overall, passing rates (scores of 3 or higher) decreased from 64% to 50% in FY21. Decreases were registered by each of the student groups, with Hispanic students registering the largest decrease of -18 percentage points, followed by White, Black, and Asian students (-14, -13, and -12 percentage points, respectively; Table 2 and Figure 2a). Historical gaps in passing rates again materialized with Asian students passing at a higher rate than White students (+7 percentage points) while Black and Hispanic students passed at lower rates (-24 and -7 percentage points, respectively).

The attachment provides a school-by-school summary of AP participation, passing rates, and gaps by student subgroup for the FY20 and FY21 school years. In addition, information on student performance by school for each test subject is available on the Department of Research & Evaluation website at: <https://www2.palmbeachschools.org/dre>. These results will be shared with appropriate staff members to provide direction for improvements in curriculum and instruction. Also, schools have received information about their AP exam test takers, which can be used with the information included here for the school improvement planning process.

Note: Participation rate for individual race/ethnicity is calculated by dividing the number of students taking an AP test (regardless of grade level) by the total number of grades 9 to 12 students in that particular race/ethnic group in the fourth nine weeks.

Notes: (a) In the District, students who are enrolled in AP courses are required to take the examination for that course.
(b) The numbers and percentages in the above table correspond to the recent AP result data provided by the College Board.

Next Steps and Guiding Questions:

School staff should review the AP results to determine strengths to build upon and opportunities to grow quality programs and expand access for students. While reviewing these data, schools should be mindful of the following:

1. How did your school perform on the tests compared to the District? Similar schools?
2. Were there differences in performance by tests? Why?
3. Are there adequate structures in place to offer courses identified in the report and not offered at your school? If not, how do we support the students taking those courses?
4. How do your students' course grades relate to the courses they have taken or are currently taking?
5. Which students were predicted to be successful in these courses?

For questions regarding the AP results, contact Paul Houchens, Director, Research & Evaluation at 561-434-8780 or Dr. Adam Miller, Assistant Superintendent, Performance Accountability at 561-434-8851. For questions about these programs in the District, contact Diana Fedderman, Assistant Superintendent, Teaching & Learning at 561-357-5989. For questions about individual school efforts and exams, please contact the appropriate regional superintendent or school principal.
